DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 21-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Frisbee (US 4,405,019).

Regarding claim 21, Frisbee discloses an implement mounting system comprising:

- a support frame (seen as arms 20 and 22)
- a ball joint attached to the support frame (viewed as trunnion mounting 56)
- a support arm (seen as cylinder 50) having a first end and second end, wherein the first end is attached to the ball joint and wherein the second end receives an attachment structure for an implement (as shown in Fig. 2), and
- a brace member (seen as link 66) attached between the support frame and the support arm.

Frisbee fails to disclose specifically a ball joint, instead disclosing a trunnion mounting (56) (seen in Figs. 1 and 2). Yet Frisbee does disclose that the that the cylinder (50) is suitably secured within a trunnion mounting (56) mounted to frame (12) such that it has complete freedom of movement in any direction (Col 4, lines 58-61). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the trunnion mounting of Frisbee to be a ball joint, since both connections allow for complete freedom of movement, therefore providing the same function and would be interchangeable in achieving the same purpose.

Regarding claims 22 and 23, the brace member has an angle with respect to the support arm (illustrated in Figs. 1 and 2). From Fig. 1 of Frisbee the angle between the cylinder (50) and link (66) appears to be about 75 degrees, although Frisbee fails to disclose the particular angular degree between the components. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the angle between the cylinder (50) and link (66) of Frisbee to be less than 75 degrees, or less than 75 degrees and greater than 10 degrees, since both ranges appear to be close to that illustrated by Frisbee in Fig. 1, and furthermore, it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-6, 8-10, 12-18, and 20 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 3/15/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. But the applicant did incorporate the allowable subject matter of claim 11 into the independent claims, rendering them allowable. The newly added claims 21-23 are the same as original claims 1, 3, and 4, and accordingly are rejected on the same grounds. The applicant's arguments are not persuasive, since the Examiner maintains that the cylinder (50) of Frisbee can be considered a "support arm" in its broadest reasonable interpretation. Also, the link (66) of Frisbee, which is viewed as the claimed "brace member" is indeed attached between the arm (20) and the cylinder (50) as Fig. 1 shows. The broad language of "attached between" does not specify any direct attachment at either end, and therefore the broadest reasonable interpretation is found by the illustration in Frisbee.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
